Re: Approval procedure for the construction and the operation of the high-pressure natural gas pipeline "Nord Stream" through the Baltic Sea

Alteration of the course of the route within the German EEZ and 12 nautical mile zone, and alterations and alternatives outside German waters

Your letter dated 24 November 2006

Dear Sir/Madam,

In the area of the route currently proposed by the applicant to be extended, designation DK-02 (information from Nord Stream, Project Information, October 2007), there are several underwater cables for telecommunications, some of which are in operation and others switched off.

Not all the underwater cables are within the sphere of responsibilities of Deutsche Telekom.

As our knowledge of details in the eastern peripheral areas of the German EEZ in the Baltic Sea is not particularly extensive, as the underwater cable network is constantly subject to change, and as the application documents submitted by the applicant are composed in a very general way and with reservations, we wish as yet to make no final statement of opinion because of the very substantial expenditure of time that would be necessary.

Once the timetable for construction and the route are presented confirmed, we will be glad to provide a precise appraisal. For the moment, we would like to make reference to the appropriate maritime charts
